

Tips for Recruiting Members for a Diverse and Inclusive Board

1

Start with your most dedicated and active volunteers.

2

Ask your current board and staff for nominations or recommendations.

3

Consider your donors. Look through your donor database and identify the ones who donate to your organization regularly.

4

Reach out to those beyond your organization, such as your stakeholders, partners, and collaborators.

5

Utilize various communications channels such as your newsletter, social media, stakeholder meetings, etc.

6

Contact local organizations specialized in training individuals to become board directors. For example, Foundation for Shared Impact runs a Board Director Training, and a Board Introduction Program where it matches individuals ready to become board members with organizations seeking directors.

7

Use board or volunteer recruitment platforms and service providers such as Recruit4Good and Foundation for Shared Impact. Once you have identified these individuals, reach out to find out if they have the suitable skills and experience to serve on your board and if they are interested in joining your board.
